Understanding Self-Compassion

Self-compassion is the practice of treating oneself with kindness and understanding during times of struggle or failure. Kristin Neff, a pioneer in self-compassion research, identifies three core components of self-compassion:

- Self-Kindness: Being warm and understanding toward oneself rather than harshly critical.
- Common Humanity: Recognizing that suffering and personal inadequacy is part of the shared human experience.
- Mindfulness: Holding one's painful thoughts and feelings in balanced awareness rather than over-identifying with them.

These components work together to create a more resilient mindset, allowing individuals to navigate life's challenges with grace and understanding.
