Latin nouns and pronouns change form depending on their grammatical role in a sentence, known as cases. There are six primary cases in Latin: nominative, genitive, dative, accusative, ablative, and vocative. Each case indicates the function of the word, such as subject, possession, or direct object. Learning these cases is critical for sentence comprehension and correct translation.

Verb Conjugations and Tenses learners to express actions accurately in various temporal contexts.

Sentence Structure and Syntax
