It typically consists of multiple-choice questions that cover a wide range of topics relevant to clinical practice, ethical guidelines, and professional standards. The exam format may vary slightly depending on the state licensing board, but most follow a similar structure established by national testing organizations.

Exam Format and Duration

The exam usually includes 150 to 170 multiple-choice questions, with a time limit of approximately 3 to 4 hours. Questions are crafted to assess both theoretical knowledge and practical application skills necessary for effective therapy practice. Candidates must demonstrate proficiency in areas such as diagnosis, treatment planning, family dynamics, and legal considerations.

Scoring and Passing Criteria

Passing scores are determined by each state licensing authority and generally require correctly answering a specific percentage of questions, often around 70%. Results are typically reported within a few weeks after test completion. Understanding the scoring process helps candidates set realistic goals when practicing with exam questions.

Scenario-Based Questions

These questions simulate real-life therapy situations, challenging candidates to apply ethical principles, diagnose, or recommend treatment approaches. Scenario-based questions assess critical thinking and decision-making abilities.
