

mla citation of ebook

MLA citation of ebook is an essential skill for students, researchers, and writers who want to ensure they properly credit their sources in academic work. With the rise of digital literature, understanding how to cite eBooks in Modern Language Association (MLA) format is crucial. This article will guide you through the MLA citation format for eBooks, provide examples, and offer tips for effective citation practices.

Understanding the Basics of MLA Citation

MLA style is widely used in the humanities, especially in literature, philosophy, and the arts. The MLA Handbook outlines the rules for citing various types of sources, including eBooks. Citing an eBook correctly not only gives credit to the authors but also allows readers to locate the original source.

Key Components of MLA Citation

When citing an eBook in MLA format, there are several key components to include:

1. Author's Name: Start with the author's last name, followed by a comma and the first name.
2. Title of the eBook: Italicize the title and use title case (capitalize the first letter of each major word).
3. Publisher: Include the name of the publisher.
4. Publication Date: Provide the date when the eBook was published.
5. Medium: Indicate that it is an eBook (though this is often implied).
6. Access Information: If applicable, include the URL or DOI if you accessed the eBook online.

Formatting eBook Citations in MLA

The format for citing an eBook can vary depending on whether it was accessed online or downloaded. Here's how to format your citations based on these categories.

Citing a Downloaded eBook

When citing a downloaded eBook, the format is as follows:

Author's Last Name, First Name. Title of the eBook. Publisher, Year of Publication.

Example:

Smith, John. Understanding Modern Literature. Penguin Books, 2020.

Citing an Online eBook

For online eBooks accessed through a database or a website, the format should be:

Author's Last Name, First Name. Title of the eBook. Publisher, Year of Publication, URL or DOI.

Example:

Doe, Jane. Exploring Digital Humanities. Oxford University Press, 2021, www.oxforduniversitypress.com/exploring-digital-humanities.

Examples of MLA Citations for eBooks

To provide clarity, here are more examples of MLA citations for various types of eBooks.

Single Author eBook

Brown, Alice. The Art of Writing Fiction. HarperCollins, 2019.

Multiple Authors eBook

For an eBook with multiple authors, list the first author followed by "et al." (Latin for "and others"):

Johnson, Mark, et al. Literature in the 21st Century. Routledge, 2022.

eBook with an Editor

If the eBook has an editor instead of an author, the citation should start with the editor's name:

Williams, Sarah, editor. Essays on Modern Art. Cambridge University Press, 2023.

Chapter or Section of an eBook

If you are citing a specific chapter or section of an eBook, use the following format:

Author's Last Name, First Name. "Title of the Chapter." Title of the eBook, edited by Editor's Name, Publisher, Year of Publication, Page range.

Example:

Green, Emma. "The Impact of Technology on Literature." The Future of Books, edited by Laura White, Random House, 2023, pp. 45-67.

Common Mistakes to Avoid When Citing eBooks

Citing eBooks can sometimes lead to confusion. Here are some common mistakes to avoid:

- Not italicizing the title: Ensure that the title of the eBook is always italicized.
- Omitting publication details: Always include the publisher and year of publication to provide complete information.
- Incorrectly formatting author names: Pay attention to the order of names and the use of commas.
- Forgetting to include access information: If you accessed the eBook online, always provide the URL or DOI at the end of your citation.

Tools and Resources for MLA Citation

To make the process of citing eBooks easier, several tools and resources are available:

1. Citation Generators: Websites like EasyBib, Citation Machine, and BibMe can automatically generate citations in MLA format based on the information you enter.
2. MLA Handbook: Refer to the latest edition of the MLA Handbook for detailed guidelines on citation rules.
3. University Writing Centers: Many universities offer writing centers where students can get help with MLA citations.
