Common General Questions

Some of the most frequently asked interview questions in the general category include inquiries about personal background, career goals, and reasons for applying. These questions typically include:

- Tell me about yourself.
- Why do you want to work here?
- What are your strengths and weaknesses?
- Where do you see yourself in five years?

- Why did you leave your last job?

These questions require thoughtful responses that highlight relevant experiences, personal qualities, and professional aspirations aligned with the company's values.

Purpose of General Questions

The purpose of these questions is to evaluate communication skills, self-awareness, and cultural fit. Interviewers gauge how well candidates articulate their experiences and career plans while assessing whether their motivations align with the organization's mission and goals.

Behavioral Interview Questions

Behavioral interview questions focus on how candidates have handled situations in the past, providing insight into their problem-solving abilities, interpersonal skills, and work ethic. These questions often begin with phrases such as "Tell me about a time when..." or "Give an example of..."

Examples of Behavioral Questions

Common behavioral questions include:

- Describe a challenging situation you faced at work and how you handled it.

contribute positively to the workplace environment. Preparing for these questions ensures candidates can demonstrate relevant competencies clearly and convincingly.
