Strategies for Answering Performance Based Interview Questions

To effectively answer performance based interview questions, consider the following strategies:

1. Use the STAR Method

The STAR method is a widely recognized technique for structuring your responses to behavioral interview questions. STAR stands for:

- Situation: Describe the context within which you performed a task or faced a challenge.
- Task: Explain what your responsibility was in that situation.
- Action: Detail the specific actions you took to address the situation.
- Result: Share the outcomes of your actions and what you learned from the experience.

2. Be Specific and Relevant

When answering questions, provide specific examples from your past experiences that are relevant to the job you are applying for. Avoid vague statements and focus on concrete details to illustrate your skills and abilities.

3. Highlight Achievements

Use your answers to showcase achievements and successes. Quantify your results whenever possible, as this adds credibility to your responses. For example, "I led a project that improved efficiency by 30%" is more impactful than simply stating, "I worked on a project."

4. Practice, Practice, Practice

Preparation is key to performing well in an interview. Practice answering common performance based questions with a friend or mentor. This will help you refine your responses and build confidence.
